On January 5, 2009 at approximately 0300 hours, Oakland Police Officers were dispatched to investigate a reported sexual assault. Officers met with a 22-year-old female who said that she had been staying at a West Oakland house for about 3-weeks and had been raped by another resident whom she had previously dated. Apparently the male adult suspect forced the victim into the house and choked her until she lost consciousness. When the victim regained consciousness, the suspect sexually assaulted her. He then offered her to the other males in the house who also sexually assaulted her.

Officers transported the victim to Alameda County Hospital for a Sexual Assault Exam. A Youth and Family Services investigative callout was made by Acting Lieutenant Alexander. The victim was transported to the Oakland Police Department to meet with investigators.

The suspects are still outstanding and the investigation is ongoing.
